Autoclave must use distilled water as the working medium. Even pure water, it also contains various minerals, evaporation at high temperatures will produce scale. Over time, the accumulation of scale will be causing the steam leak, causing a small pipe jam, pressure and temperature sensor failures etc. While in chamber with the hole sterilizing equipment, scale easy to jam into the small pipes and bearings, to make equipment performance degradation, which affects using life. This shows the importance of using distilled water.
